The Citadel produces leaders. Through a demanding system that epitomizes the very best of democratic principles, all entering cadets face equal challenges and have the same opportunity to achieve. Cadets are measured by their character and determination, not by their social or economic background, earning respect for their performance, effort and attitude toward others.

Offering excellent academics, The Citadel’s four-year graduation rate ranks no. 1 nationwide among public colleges whose entering students average between 1000 and 1200 on the SAT. The Citadel’s emphasis on teamwork, self-discipline and responsibility produces graduates with the capacity to excel in any field. Contact us today and find out if you indeed have what it takes.
